Important information about shipments to and from Svalbard

The latest acceptance time is 3:00 p.m., two working days before departure. Separate agreements apply to refrigerated and fresh goods. Svalbard is outside the Norwegian customs territory. Customs documents and any documentation required for dangerous goods must therefore be received by the acceptance deadline, enabling Posten Bring to comply with applicable regulatory requirements.

Shipments that do not fit into a 20-foot container, are particularly fragile, weigh more than 25 tonnes, or require special lifting operations must be notified as early as possible, and no later than five days before departure. This is necessary to ensure the efficient and safe planning of loading and unloading.

Price enquiries and customs documentation should be sent to::

Shipments to Svalbard: tromso.support@bring.com

Shipments from Svalbard: svalbard@bring.com

A winter surcharge applies from 1 January to 31 March.

The transport of dangerous goods is governed by the IMDG Code. The sender is responsible for ensuring that the shipment is correctly packaged, labelled and documented before transport. Shipments without the required documentation will not be transported in accordance with applicable regulations.

Sailing schedules and vessel allocation are subject to change due to weather conditions, ice conditions and other unforeseen events.

The liability of the carrier and freight forwarder is limited in accordance with the Norwegian Maritime Code and the applicable NASB 2015. Shipments weighing less than 35 kg are recommended to be sent using "Pakke til bedrift" or "Norgespakke". Dangerous goods cannot be sent as parcels.
